

Preliminary note. We observe reduced data movement in a process-in-memory prototype.

Method. We evaluated three workloads selected by the authors after inspecting preliminary results. No control configuration was measured and no statistical test was applied.